Two die in Hwy. 43 collision

BY DENA BISNETTE

Holiday traffic fatalities included two Hancock County men killed in a Saturday evening head-on collision on Hwy. 43 four miles north of Hwy. 603.

Dead are Michael J. Mixon, 20, of Kiln and Rodney W. Rester, 19, of Leetown.

According to a report from the Mississippi Highway Patrol in Gulfport, the two were driving in opposite directions when they collided about 6:45 p.m.

The collision was "approximately head-on," a Highway Patrol spokesman said.

The Highway Patrol spokesman said a recent state attorney general's opinion prevents release of information relating to the cause of a traffic accident.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is still searching for an armed suspect who robbed a Pearl-ington convenience store Sunday.

According to Investigator Delbert Seay, the robbery occurred shortly after 10 p.m. at the Junior Food Mart. The robber locked a clerk and a customer in a storage room and fled with about $190.

At the time of the robbery, the suspect was armed with a handgun and was wearing a white hood, white gloves, a green jacket with a drawstring and blue jeans.

Michoud to develop reusable tanks

A study of low cost, expendable cryogenic propellant tanks for Air Force launch vehicles will be conducted by Martin Marietta Aerospace under a new contract.

The 17-month study, valued at $235,000 will focus on innovative concepts for liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen propellant tanks for launch vehicles that would be capable of carrying payloads weighing from 65,000 to 250,000 pounds.

The contract was awarded by the U.S. Air Force Rocket Propulsion Laboratory at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Martin Marietta will be responsible for studying technical design innovations, and identifying new technologies to reduce the recurring production costs of such propellant tanks.

The study will be conducted by the Michoud Division of Martin Marietta Aerospace at facilities in New Orleans where the company manufactures the external propellant tanks for the Space Shuttle.

Specialist offers tips

Control wintertime moisture in houses

By Dr. Frances Graham
Housing Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

Controlling the moisture level inside a house in the winter can be frustrating for homeowners.

Some homes have too much moisture creating an environment for mildew to grow. Others have winter dryness.

When situations arise related to excessive dryness inside homes, the problem is often associated with wood burning stoves and fireplace inserts. Forced hot air heating systems also add to drying conditions. Moisture can be added by placing containers of water on wood stoves, by adding a humidifier to central heating systems or by installing a separate humidifier in the home. These are usually satisfactory solutions.

Excessive moisture conditions, which often produce conditions for the growth of mildew, are also very apparent during the winter. In the past moisture was frequently associated with the use of unvented gas space heaters in homes.

Many sources of moisture can be identified. In addition to the production of carbon monoxide and sulfur dioxide produced by an unvented kerosene heater, 1.1 gallons of water are produced for every gallon of kerosene burned.

In very tightly sealed homes, such as those that are well insulated, weatherstripped or have storm windows, the use of an unvented kerosene space heater can double the amount of moisture vapor generated in a house each day.

A comfortable level of relative humidity is between 25 percent to 50 percent. It takes only four to six pints of water to raise the relative humidity of a 1,000 square foot house from 15 percent to 60 percent, thereby producing the ideal environment for mildew to grow (60 degrees F and above and 60 percent relative humidity).

Some other sources of normally generated moisture vapor in a house are:

Sources of Moisture Vapor	Amount of Water Produced
Person Breathing	1/8 Pint Per Hour
Washing Dishes	1/2 Pint
Shower	1/2 Pint
Mopping Floor (150 Sq. Ft.)	4 1/2 Pints
Burning 1 lb. Methane Unvented	2 1/4 Pints
Burning 1 lb. Propane Unvented	1 1/2 Pints
Burning 1 lb. Kerosene Unvented	1 1/2 Pints

The presence of continuous condensation on windows may be a sign of excess moisture. If frost or ice forms on glass or metal frames and sash and if paint peels and wood rots, there is certainly excess moisture.

If a single pane of glass gets so cold that moisture condenses and runs down it in the winter, the double glass and/or heating vent located beneath the window can eliminate the problem.

Often moisture will condense on windows causing wetness and dripping while the relative humidity in the house is low enough to cause nasal and breathing problems. The reason for this is that moisture and temperature are related.

In this case, condensation on windows results more from the cold window surface than from excessively high moisture in the room. The solution to this is achieved by warming the window surface above the dew point by adding storm windows and/or placing heated air vents in order for the warm air to remove moisture from the glass similar to the way a defroster works on the windshield of a car.

If moisture condenses between the permanent window and storm window, the warm, moist air from inside the house is leaking to the airspace between the two glass panes.

To correct this problem, the leaking spaces should be sealed or the two windows must be ventilated. To do this, two three-eighths inch diameter holes can be drilled at the top and bottom of the storm window or the storm window can be loosened slightly.

If mildew or dampness is present on the ceiling or on the outside walls near the ceiling, there is a possibility that the insulation is not properly installed. The insulation must be repositioned in order to prevent cold wind from chilling the area where vapor will subsequently condense.

AIR FORCE ONE

James Stewart narrates a special documentary about the Presidential airplane, "Air Force One: The Planes and the Presidents," at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 2, on Mississippi ETV.

For the past 40 years, Air Force One, the "Oval Office of the Sky," has been witness to a wide range of events uniquely American. It has been the scene of enormous power and intrigue, great joy and profound sorrow. From FDR to Reagan, LBJ's swearing-in and Nixon's resignation, Kissinger's secret negotiations—all are part of Air Force One.

The documentary features an interview with President Reagan and former Presidents Carter and Ford. Their views, plus historic film footage, reminiscences of presidential aides and former Air Force One pilots and crews reveal presidential life in the 20th century.

Professional group cites MD role in chemical dependence

Chemical dependence needs greater recognition by physicians and by the public as a medical illness that can be treated, states the American College of Physicians in a recent position paper.

Developed by the national medical specialty society's Department of Health and Public Policy, the statement addresses the role of the physician in recognizing, treating and preventing the illness.

"Chemical dependence has become a serious health problem in this country," said John R. Ball, MD, JD, ACP executive vice president for health and public policy.

"It is costly for patients' families and friends—who must pay medical bills and bear the social brunt of the illness—and it affects innocent victims as well."

The college statement notes that alcohol is responsible for more deaths among people aged 15-45 than any other single agent; the drug is involved in at least half of all automobile fatalities, 67 percent of drownings, 70 percent to 80 percent of deaths in fires, 67 percent of murders, 35 percent of suicides, and 85 percent of 11,000 annual liver disease deaths.

Physicians often are called upon to treat people suffering the effects of drug dependence, said Dr. Ball.

"It thus is imperative that they know the symptoms and behavior associated with excessive drug use," he continued.

"Physicians must be able to recognize and treat the problem and to give appropriate counsel about the correct use of drugs, and they must avoid prescribing practices that could lead to chemical dependence in their patients."

Dependence usually is found in relation to three types of substances, the ACP notes.

"Social drugs"—alcohol, caffeine and nicotine—account for the majority of drug problems in the United States, with 10 million people dependent on alcohol alone.

Licit drugs, both over-the-counter and prescription, are frequently abused and the General Accounting Office estimates they may be responsible for more injuries and deaths than are all illegal drugs together.

Illicit drug use is increasing and although many users suffer from complications or addiction, little has been documented of the use, abuse and effects of illegal drugs.

The college addresses the various aspects of chemical dependence that a physician must be familiar with and educated about: behavioral and physical indications of the illness, certain lab findings and indications in the patient history, and the many treatment options available.

The use of community resources, with appropriate support and patient counseling and education, the ACP considers to be an important part of the treatment process.

Physicians may elect to refer a patient for treatment or follow-up elsewhere, but whether or not physicians assume the primary treatment role, the ACP notes, their influence on the patient's progress can be considerable.

The ACP recognizes that physicians' can—intentionally or otherwise—be a party to chemical dependence by prescribing medications in such a way that a patient becomes dependent on them.

The college warns that physicians have a responsibility to keep their prescribing practices consistent with the best interests of their patients.

"Poorly informed and careless physicians need to be better educated," the college says, and "physicians who are convicted of abusing their right to prescribe drugs and of pandering to the illicit market should have their licenses to practice medicine revoked and should be punished to the fullest extent of the law."

In addition to being well informed themselves, the ACP recommends that physicians take a part in patient and public education: "the hallmark of all disease prevention efforts."

In particular, the college stresses the physician's responsibility to teach patients about the proper use of licit and the hazards of illicit drugs, and the need for medicine to participate in public education programs that emphasize the vital importance of following instructions when taking prescribed and over-the-counter medications.

The ACP—which represents 60,000 doctors of internal medicine, related nonsurgical specialists, and physicians-in-training nationwide—recognizes the responsibility of internal medicine, along with psychiatry and other medical specialties, to diagnose and treat chemical dependence. The college encourages the discipline as a whole to take a greater role in educating medical students and house staff about chemical dependence.

For its own part, the ACP helps to educate physicians through statements such as this and through continuing medical education programs like those held at its annual scientific meeting and at regional meetings throughout the year.

Complete copies of the ACP position paper on chemical dependence are available from the college.

The American College of Physicians was founded in 1915 as a communications link among medical scientists, clinical researchers and practicing physicians.

Through rigorous membership requirements, continuing medical education programs, and contact with health care officials in government and the private sector, the ACP works to upgrade the quality of medical care, education and research in the United States.

Party tips from the Alcoholism Committee

The holiday season is synonymous with party going and giving. People jump into the "fast lane" of tree-timming parties, friendly get-togethers, caroling fests, and New Year's Eve celebrations.

It all adds up to frequent opportunities to overindulge in food and alcohol—temptations which will, for most lead to a flurry of New Year's resolutions to begin one more diet, cut down on drinking, or at least, maintain better control in the New Year. For the recovered alcoholic, the holidays can be a particularly difficult time, when the individual's commitment to recovery is often tested by offers of festive drinks.

The committee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse (CADA) has formulated a list of common sense suggestions to help party-goers and party givers alike to enjoy the holiday period with greater safety.

The CADA guidelines are:

1. Decide before a party who will drive home. If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink. Individual reactions to alcohol vary greatly on different occasions.
2. Whenever you entertain, offer a variety of attractive non-alcoholic beverages.
3. Serve food and snacks when guests are drinking alcoholic beverages.
4. Don't overserve guests. Pace drinks, push snacks, serve meals on time.

5. Ask the bartender to serve measured standard drinks, no doubles, or "holiday specials." Doing otherwise can be dangerous and it isn't gracious.

6. Sip drinks, don't gulp.

7. Don't drink on an empty stomach.

8. If someone overindulges, offer to drive them home, call a cab or let them spend the night at your home.

9. To wind your party down, serve snacks rather than more drinks during the final hour. These don't sober anyone up, but will set the tones for departure and give the body time to begin metabolizing the alcohol in it.

10. Above all KNOW WHEN TO SAY WHEN.

Confidential information and help are available through the 504-524 H-E-L-P number, made possible through the Committee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, a United Way Agency, or by calling 467-9110 or 255-3413 in Hancock County.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL

HIGH COST OF FLOODS

While most of the state's attention has been drawn to the flooding problems created by the Mississippi and Pearl Rivers in recent years, the fact is 81 of the state's 82 counties have suffered major flood disasters over the past 13 years.

In that period, federal disaster assistance to the state has exceeded $343 billion and, in addition, in the six-year period from 1977 through 1982 more than $33 million was paid to Mississippians in settlement of insurance claims resulting from flood losses.

These losses have occurred despite the expenditure of billions of dollars through the years in flood control efforts by federal, state, and local governments.

In a study of the economic impact of flooding in the state just completed by the Mississippi Economic Council, two principal reasons were identified for the severe flooding and heavy losses in recent years.

First, there has been an unusually heavy rainfall. The U.S. Geological Survey reports that the average annual rainfall in Mississippi increased by 3.6 inches in the period from 1951-1980.

The second cause of the flooding losses is the increased urbanization of flood-prone areas. The Mississippi Research and Development Center has reported that 15.5 percent of the state's residential, commercial, and industrial lands are located in flood-prone areas.

Flooding continues to exert a major economic impact on Mississippi even though expensive flood-control projects are ongoing.

In order to reduce economic losses caused by flooding, the council has recommended a six-step plan:

1. To correct problems created by the fragmentation of flood-control responsibilities, the state should centralize flood-control efforts by designating one agency for this purpose.

2. Mississippi's congressional delegation should adopt as one of its highest priorities continued and expanded funding of flood-control projects in Mississippi.

3. Federal, state, and local governments should provide more information to citizens as to identification of flood-prone acreage and potential flood damage to investments within those areas.

4. Flood-prone areas of the state should be encouraged to participate in the federal flood insurance program.

5. The State of Mississippi, counties, and municipalities should consider adopting laws and ordinances to control the use and encroachment of floodplain areas. Consideration should be given for the use of Federal Disaster Grants designed for the removal of urban development in floodplains.

6. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Soil Conservation Service, and state and local governments should continue and expand where possible their flood-control activities in Mississippi.

MISSISSIPPI CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division Of The Office Of
Edwin Lloyd Pittman, Attorney General

Public Support Needed To Fight Crime

December is the month when the temperature begins to cool down and office activity normally slows down, but things in Jackson are heating up—especially in the Attorney General's office—in preparation for the 1985 legislative session. We are preparing and sponsoring many new bills which we feel will greatly benefit the people of this state, and we are asking for your help in getting them passed.

The anti-crime package is a 10-point package of bills jointly sponsored by this office, the Mississippi Prosecutors Association and the Governor's office. In addition, the proposed laws have the backing of the Mississippi Sheriffs Association, the Chiefs of Police Association and the Peace Officers Association. This is the first time that all the law enforcement agencies in Mississippi have joined together in mutual support for legislation that will strengthen law enforcement.

Rights of Victims Protected

One of the main elements of the anti-crime package is a strong victims' rights program, embodied in six separate bills which would provide compensation for actual expenses suffered by a victim of a violent crime and would give the victim more information and a more active part in the criminal justice procedure, from arrest through the felon's final release from jail or prison.

The compensation portion of the program would provide funds up to $10,000 per crime to repay the victim or his family for any hospital expenses, funeral expenses, loss of time from work or other actual expenses which arose as a direct result of the crime. There would not be compensation for property damage or loss. The compensation would repay only those expenses not covered by insurance. Funding for the program would come from an original "start-up" appropriation by the Legislature, by matching federal funds, private donations and grants, plus additional costs and fines to be assessed to the defendants.

"For too long the state and the courts have looked only to the rights of the criminal," Attorney General Ed Pittman said. "If a criminal gets shot during a robbery attempt, the state pays for his food, lodging and hospital bills. But if that criminal shoots an innocent person during that robbery attempt, the state does nothing at all to help that victim. This is wrong and it should be corrected." Pittman said he thought the Legislature would be in favor of the victims' rights program generally, but added, "It is going to be difficult to get anything passed this year that involves an appropriation. The first thing we are going to hear is, 'We don't have the money; we can't afford it.' The money can and should be found for programs needed by the people of this state. What we can't afford to do is to keep ignoring problems; they won't go away."

The other portion of the victims' rights package would make provisions for the victim to be notified when an arrest is made, when trial date is set, when sentencing is set, when the convict is eligible for parole and when a parole hearing is set, then when the convict is finally released from prison. The victim or someone from his family would have the right to be heard at the sentencing, to tell the judge how the crime has affected the victim or the family, and to have the judge consider this information before passing sentence.

Other Anti-Crime Bills

Other proposed laws from the anti-crime package would:

1. Allow the state to try several charges against the same defendant in one trial. This is already allowed in federal courts and in most state courts. It would save the courts' time and counties' money.
2. Allow the state the same right the defendant already has to try to get the trial moved to another county if the district attorney does not think he can get a fair trial for the prosecution in the county where the crime was committed.
3. Add fines to all felonies where the present punishment is a jail or prison term only.
4. Let the state and county get a larger share of property seized by forfeiture. (Under the present law, most of it goes to the Internal Revenue Service).
5. Provide for additional assistant district attorneys and more expense funds for the district attorneys' offices.

6. Protect the investigative records of police and sheriffs' departments from discovery in civil cases.

7. Restrict special venire jury panels to one per day to speed up the trial procedure in capital cases.

8. Permit juries to consider the possible future danger to society of a convicted felon as a factor in setting a sentence.

9. Prohibit the possession of a deadly weapon by a convicted felon.

The attorney general and his staff, along with the governor, the district attorneys and the law enforcement agencies of Mississippi feel that the passage of these bills would noticeably speed the process of getting cases through the court system, would strengthen the office of the district attorney, would help innocent victims and would save money for the counties. We urge you to get in touch with your legislators and let them know that you, too, support this package.

New Laws to Protect The Consumer

Along with the anti-crime package, the attorney general's office is sponsoring and urging the passage of the following consumer bills:

1. A "lemon law" which would entitle the consumer to another new car or to a complete refund if a material defect in the new automobile cannot be corrected within three attempts. There are no criminal sanctions in this proposed law; the consumer's redress would be through arbitration or civil suit.

2. A bill which would limit the amount of time and money for which pre-paid contracts to dance studios could be written. The bill would limit each contract to a maximum of $2,000 and a 12-month period. It would also provide for a five-day rescission period and for a $10,000 bond to be maintained with the state treasurer for each dancing studio. This bill does have a criminal sanction; persons who violate it would be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $2,000 and/or one year in jail.

3. A bill which would require health spas to post a $25,000 bond with the state treasurer and to limit health spa contracts to a one-year period. This would do away with the current practice of "lifetime" memberships which are non-revokable. Persons who violate this law would, under the provisions of the bill, be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $2,000 and/or one year in jail.

Speakers for Civic Clubs Available

The attorney general's office and the district attorneys across the state would like an opportunity to explain the proposed bills to the public. One of the best ways to do this, we have found, is to speak to civic clubs, church and school organizations. We would like to have that opportunity to tell the people in your town and county about the anti-crime and consumer bills so that, hopefully, they will help us persuade the Legislature of the need for this additional protection for the citizens of our state.

If you are a member of a civic club, church or school organization, we ask you to please help us spread the message by calling the program chairman of your group. Speakers can be arranged from the attorney general's office or the district attorney in your area by calling Special Assistant Attorney General Pat Flynn, 359-3680, or writing to Attorney General's Office, Gartin Justice Building, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Ms. 39205.

Refund Due From South Central Bell

The Mississippi Supreme Court gave the people of this state a Christmas present by overturning a chancery court ruling and finding that South Central Bell is not entitled to a rate hike which has been in effect under bond since 1982. This means that the customers will be due approximately $200 million in refunds.

Attorney General Pittman congratulates Assistant Attorney General Frank Spencer, who handled the case through the lower court and the Supreme Court, and also commends the Public Service Commission for their continued attention to the welfare of our citizens.

Happy Holidays

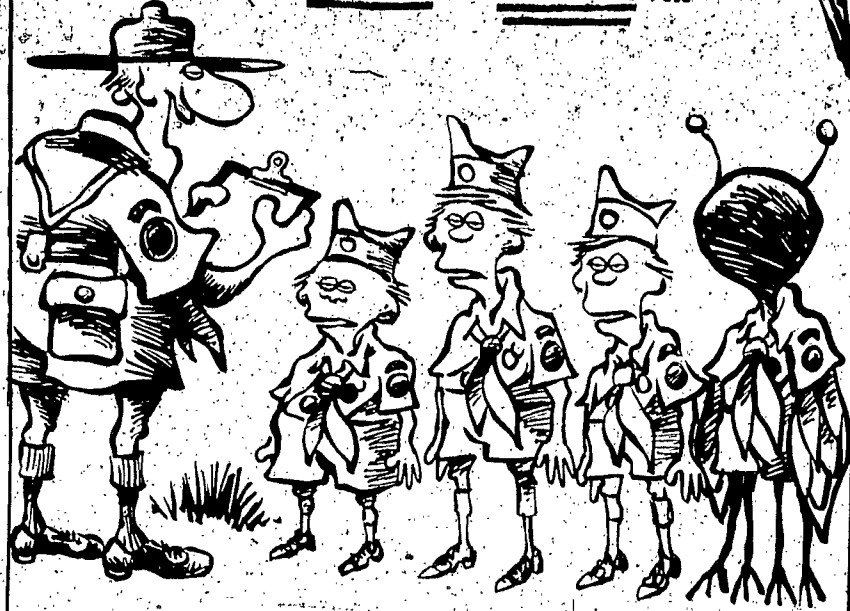

Happy New Year to everyone from the Attorney General and his staff. 1984 has been a very good year for this office and for our state; we are looking toward an even brighter 1985.

Teen suicide rate increase alarming

Why are so many teen-agers committing suicide lately?

Deaths from suicide in the United States have risen about 22 percent in the past 10 years.

These figures are, in all probability, on the low side because so many self-inflicted deaths are not recorded as such because of the social stigma.

Among males ages 15-24, the rate increased 74 percent, and for females in that group, the increase was 33 percent. In this age group, suicide is the second leading cause of death after car accidents, and many automobile accidents are thought to be disguised suicides.

What makes the teen-age years especially stressful is that boys and girls are trying to establish an independent identity. A child's emotional development may not keep pace with his physical development, yet parents tend to think of adolescents as young adults.

First, a parent may tell a youngster to "act like an adult" and behave responsibly. Then, the same parent refuses the youngster permission for an activity, saying, "You're too young." Adolescents get a double message.

Young men often believe that forging a masculine identity requires them to take physical risks in order to fulfill society's expectation "to make a man of yourself."

Four times as many males as females in the 15-24 year old group and twice as many in the 20-24 year old group take their own lives.

Part of the reason may be that males use such methods as shooting or hanging themselves or driving dangerously, while females overdose on drugs and often are resuscitated in time.

Suicide frequently occurs after an argument in the family. Sometimes the child believes he's the reason for his parents' divorce. A move to a new home, school or community, or the death of a beloved relative can trigger a suicide attempt.

A few weeks later after his grandmother died, a six-year-old boy ran in front of cars so he could get close to her. He believed that he could come back afterwards.

Youngsters, even as old as 15, have a different perception of reality. Suicide isn't seen as final. Youngsters may see death as something they haven't experienced and wonder what it feels like.

Although a suicide gesture may appear designed to manipulate parents, it should never go unattended.

Otherwise, subsequent gestures will be more serious until the child achieves the response he or she is looking for. In the process, the child may be killed accidentally.

A bid for attention may begin with something so minor as a youngster's refusal to come to the dinner table. Later, parents may notice that a child has irregular sleeping habits, that his eating habits have changed—he's eating too much or too little—that the child has withdrawn from family and friends and stays alone in his room.

School performance often drops off. There may be an increased use of drugs and alcohol.

As conflicts and problems pile up, suicide as a "solution" can grow more and more appealing, especially when the local media has recently publicized a prominent person's self-inflicted death.

Sometimes parents notice the changes, but don't know how to handle them. They feel rejected when their teen-ager doesn't want to talk about what is bothering him or her.

When a teen-ager is unhappy, just for a parent to be there, to put an arm around the youngster, may be enough to communicate the nonverbal message of closeness and open the way for expression of deep feelings.

Usually, suicide happens not when the child is deeply depressed—depression results in apathy—but when he begins to feel better.

If parents suspect that an adolescent may attempt suicide, they should monitor him closely even after he seems to be improving. They must be careful, however, not to "spy on" the teen-ager, but to soothe him and show that they care. Not all persons who wish to die are depressed.

Parents should be aware of the danger signals of teen-age suicidal thought and see that a troubled adolescent receives professional help, which usually involves family therapy.

Religious counseling is often helpful but seldom is fully sufficient to resolve significant problems.

Ethiopian aid reminds of earlier aid to Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article, entitled "Scrooge We Are Not" and authored by Robert Larkins, a Washington-based freelance writer is supplied to The Sea Coast Echo by Public Research syndicated in Claremont, Calif.

'Tis the holiday season again, and at this festive time of giving and thanksgiving, I think it highly appropriate to pay homage to the American people. Though frequently maligned in the Third World as the Scrooge of the international community, the United States is by far the leading supplier of non-military assistance in the world. Today, the citizens of America are responding magnanimously to the famine in Ethiopia, contributing generously to the relief effort that benefits anonymous individuals in a faraway land, and I think we would do well to consider a similar example of Yankee humanitarianism some 60 years ago.

In the early 1920s, when the newly established Soviet state was ravaged by pestilence and hunger stemming from the bloody civil war, the American Relief Administration, under the direction of Herbert Hoover, provided the Soviets with more than 700,000 tons of food, clothing, and medical supplies.

Then, as today, politics were put aside, and the American people bailed out a regime that embraced an ideology fundamentally inimical to our democratic ideals. A need existed, and our parents and grandparents reached deep into their pockets and cupboards, giving without stint.

In fact, the response was so impressive that the Soviet government presented Hoover with a proclamation of friendship of the Soviet people.

Characterized as "boundless, and entirely unselfish," the American relief effort moved the Council of the People's Commissars "to express the most deeply felt sentiments of gratitude" to Mr. Hoover and his colleagues.

In the good comrades' words, "millions of people of all ages were saved from death, and entire localities, including many towns, escaped a threatening fearful calamity." Gushing on, the resolution said "that all the people of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics never will forget the aid rendered to them by the American people."

The Soviet declaration of appreciation was held "to be a pledge of the future friendship of the two nations."

More than half a century has passed since then and anyone who has ever heard a press release from TASS or Pravda can't help but wonder if this document has disappeared down the memory holes in Moscow. In the steady diatribe of anti-Americanism that emanates from the Kremlin, would there possibly be room for the truth of days gone by?

Of course, it was only a decade after this forgotten proclamation that there was another famine in the U.S.S.R.—the Ukrainian famine that killed millions. In this case, however, no appeals were made for American help, because the famine was the deliberate result of Stalin's agricultural collectivization policies.

Given the performance of the Soviets and their amnesia about previous American assistance, it is only fair to question whether their Marxist-Leninist clients in Ethiopia, whose adherence to the Communist creed exacerbated the problems caused by the terrible drought, will ever recognize the beneficence of the imperialist, warmongering United States.

Stirred by graphic images of emaciated children on the nightly news, Americans from all walks of life have been united by our nation's enduring spirit of voluntarism.

Tips on Buying Nuts

Nuts, whether purchased already shelled or to be shelled at home, traditionally have special appeal during the year-end holiday season. This year as usual, all varieties of tree nuts will be available, although some will be in greater abundance than others.

When selecting nuts in the shell, look for those that are clean, well-filled and free from scars, cracks or holes. When choosing shelled nuts look for kernels that are uniform in size and color, if used as a garnish. Plump and meaty kernels have full flavor and freshness. Buy crisp kernels since limp, rubbery, shriveled kernels denote staleness.

Two pounds of almonds and pecans in the shells provide one pound of meats, about 2 1/2 pounds of filberts and walnuts shell out one pound of meats. With willing hands to do the shelling, you may save by buying in-shell nuts, if you can control the nibbling!

As a general rule the lower the temperature, the longer nuts will keep. For home use, shelled pecans should be kept in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator. They should be stored in the main section of the refrigerator, rather than in the humidifier or moist air section.

Vacuum cans of shelled pecans may be kept on the pantry shelf until they are opened. Once the can is opened, the pecans should be stored in the refrigerator.

Nuts to be stored in the shell for a shorter time should be kept in a cool, dry place.

Shelled nuts will keep fresh for several months stored in tightly-closed containers in the refrigerator. Shelled or unshelled nuts can be frozen in tightly-closed freezer containers at 0 degrees F or lower.

Experiment with nuts, special recipes are not always needed. It takes only a little imagination to make "company fare" of plain food. Many good old standbys are even better with nuts.

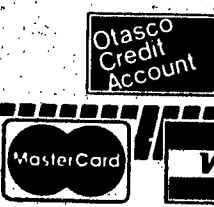

Add toasted nuts to creamed or saucy meat dishes or vegetables. Serve sour cream with nuts on meat or baked potatoes. For waffles, biscuits, or muffins, stir nuts into blended dry ingredients before adding liquid.

PECAN REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar (packed)
2 eggs
3/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup pecans
Cream butter and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Sift flour and measure. Add flour, soda, salt and cream of tartar to butter mixture. Mix well. Add nuts and stir until well mixed. Divide mixture into four parts and roll each part in wax paper.

Rolls will be about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Chill in refrigerator at least four hours. (May be frozen). Slice into 1/4-inch slices; place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake 8 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from cookie sheet immediately.

Christmas decoration winners announced

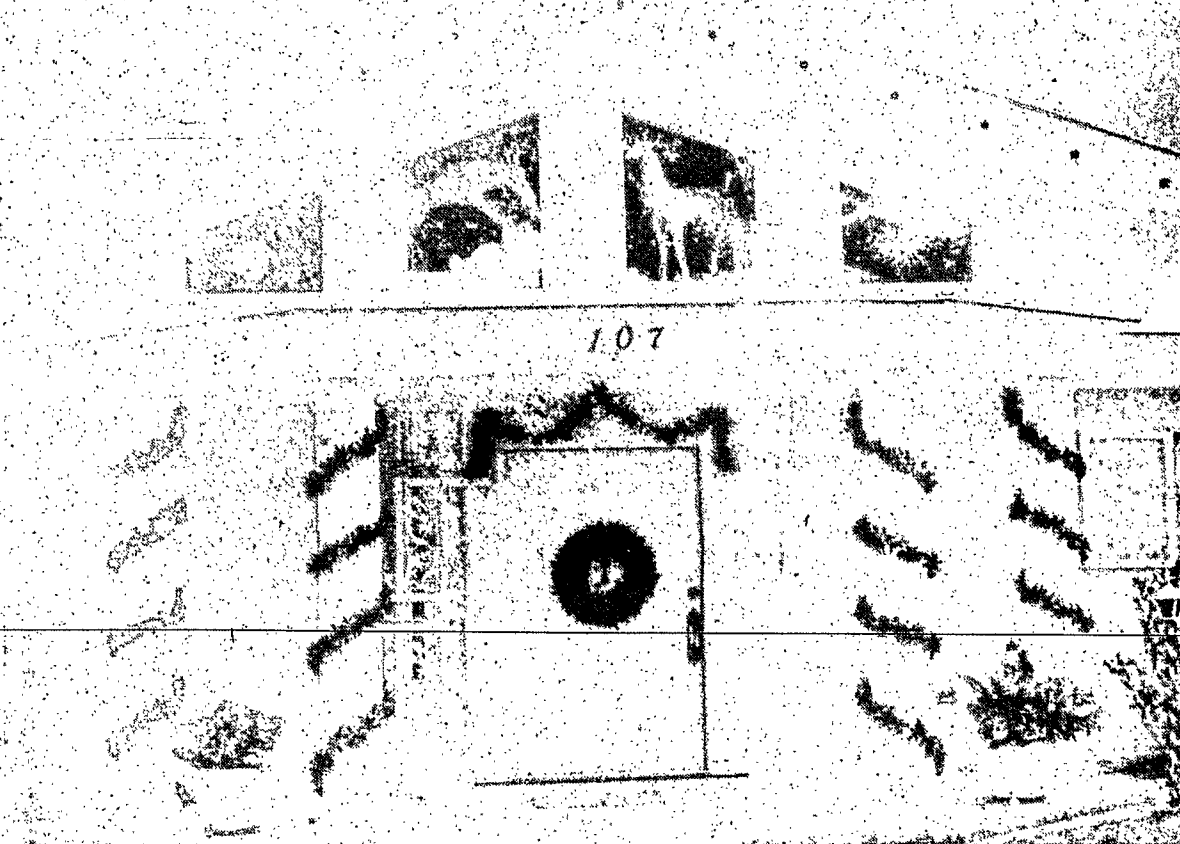

HOLIDAY FASHIONS—Women's holiday gowns decorate the window of the Princess Shoppe in the Winn-Dixie Shopping Center. The display was selected for honorable mention in the commercial division of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's annual decorating competition. The window is watched over by Noel, a doll who wears old-fashioned holiday finery.

DAY DECORATION—A traditional creche provides decoration for the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Noto, 604 Turner Street, Bay St. Louis, during daylight hours. At night, lighted decorations become the focal point of the display. The night decorations include such non-traditional items as a decorated palm tree. The Notos received third place in the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's annual decorating contest.

GARLANDS AND REINDEER—Garlands and a door wreath decorate the downstairs of the home of Mr. and Mrs. T.D. Ashman, 107 Lafitte Drive, Waveland, while the upstairs windows feature white reindeer and snowflakes. The Ashman home was first place winner for the Waveland residential division of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's annual decorating contest.

GOLD-TRIMMED WALK—An awning frame decorated with garlands of gold tinsel, lights and ribbons leads to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cupstid, 404 Necaise Avenue, in Waveland. The Cupstid home, which also features bells and greenery tucked into the eaves of the house, was a second place winner.

WHITE CHRISTMAS—Snowmen in the window of Seymour's Jewellery beckon to holiday shoppers as snowflakes sparkle behind them. The mechanically-controlled moving snowmen were selected as third place winners in the commercial division.

Infections hinder fish tagging project

Harvesting, tagging and stocking of striped bass in local waters as part of the Mississippi and Alabama Cooperative Striped Bass Restoration Program have been hindered by protozoan and bacterial infections of the fish, according to Larry Nicholson, striped bass project leader at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

Only about 12,000 striped bass (Morone saxatilis) will be available for tagging and release out of the 150,000 fingerlings transferred from GCRL's semiclosed intensive culture system to brackish-water ponds at the Claude Petet Mariculture Center (CPMC) at Gulf Shores, Ala.

"We aren't sure what has caused the infections yet," Nicholson noted. "We suspect that the protozoa may have been carried along the industrial seaway to the ponds at Gulf Shores, and the bacteria was probably transmitted by some animal."

"We plan to hold the remaining fish until early January to be sure they are free of infection," Nicholson continued. "The surviving fish seem quite healthy and vigorous, though."

Tagging has been conducted during November and December at GCRL and CPMC. The striped bass will be released into the coastal streams of Mississippi and Alabama as part of the second year of the two-state cooperative project sponsored by the National Marine Fisheries Service.

Striped bass tagged from the Gulf Shores ponds measure 4 to 6 inches in length and at least 90 grams in weight. The tagging procedure involved anesthetizing the fish and in-serting an internal anchor tag into a tiny incision made in the fish's lower left side. Tags for Mississippi's share of the fish were imprinted with GCRL's address and phone number, as well as an identification number for each fish.

Nicholson said fishermen catching striped bass, whether tagged or not, should call GCRL collect at (601) 875-2244 to relay information concerning length, weight and condition of the fish, as well as where and how the catch was made and identification number if the fish was tagged.

This data will aid in determining survival rates, movement and year-class strength, as well as other factors which could not be ascertained without the tagging program.

Nicholson stressed the importance of continued input from sport fishermen to document striped bass catches in assisting fisheries officials to evaluate the stocking program and its benefits to the area.

"Some of the tagged fish released last year have been caught in the Tchoutacabouffa River and the Pearl River, as well as in the Biloxi Bay area where they were released," Nicholson pointed out.

The remainder of the project includes monitoring and sampling to evaluate growth, survival, movement and natural reproduction rates of this year's fish, as well as striped bass stocked during previous years.

The Mississippi-Alabama cooperative program is only one project undertaken by GCRL since 1967 to reestablish natural populations of striped bass in Mississippi's coastal streams. The laboratory initiated concentrated stocking programs over 10 years ago which have been instrumental in reviving local striped bass sport fishing.

In addition to the fish cooperatively raised by GCRL and CPMC, the stocking effort in Mississippi streams has been augmented by 490,000 fingerlings from Carbon Hill National Fish Hatchery in Alabama and 140,000 fingerlings from Meridian National Fish Hatchery in Mississippi.

FISH TAGGING—Biologist Larry Nicholson of Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs prepares a striped bass for tagging as part of the Mississippi and Alabama Cooperative Striped Bass Restoration Program.

Three-state Soybean Forum slated Jan. 4

New ways of marketing soybeans and other crops will highlight an annual Tri-State Soybean Forum in Monroe, La., Jan. 4.

The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn Holiday beginning at 8:30 a.m. The forum ends at 2:30 p.m., said Dr. Wayne Jordan, head of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, Agronomy Department.

The one-day session is for individuals interested in growing or marketing soybeans in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Highlighting the meeting will be a look at the potential of using agricultural options in marketing soybeans. Richard Jelinek, with the Chicago Board of Trade, will make the presentation.

Agricultural options are a relatively new way to market soybeans that gives farmers another way to reduce marketing risk. Options trading on soybeans began in the fall of 1984 on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Other topics of interest to farmers include crop rotation and disease prevention, irrigation, and foreign markets and price outlook for soybeans.

The meeting is sponsored by the Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas Cooperative Extension Services, Delta Council of Mississippi and soybean promotion boards and associations in the three-state area.

THAT NAGGING BACK
Backaches are one of the most common complaints of the American society. We find the average patient is quite convinced their backache is due to some strained muscle or internal trouble. Some patients, of course, relate it directly to an injury or fall they may have sustained in the past. There are many different causes of back pain and surgery is not always necessary. In most cases, it can be avoided if the patient is made aware of conservative chiropractic care. A complete chiropractic examination will pinpoint the exact cause of the back problem, along with the extent of the damage. In the majority of these cases, Chiropractic offers the most effective and safest approach to the problem of backaches. Research points out that as high as 8 out of ten people can avoid surgery if in time by a doctor of Chiropractic.

and Coach Frank Glamser observe. The soccer team recently brought home the inaugural championship cup of the Mississippi Collegiate Soccer League by defeating the Ole Miss Rebels 2-1 in the second overtime of the game.

USM takes soccer title

Soccer's popularity is gaining momentum in collegiate circles these days and the coach of the University of Southern Mississippi's 1984 state champion team is looking forward to the day when it becomes a full-fledged varsity sport.

Dr. Frank Glamser's Golden Eagle Soccer Club recently claimed the inaugural championship of the Mississippi Collegiate Soccer League with a 2-1 decision over Ole Miss in the finals of a six-team, two-day, single-elimination playoff at Clinton.

"There's a lot of good soccer being played around the state," noted Glamser, who chairs USM's Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

"While this isn't necessarily a step toward varsity status for the sport, it does reflect a growing interest locally and nationally."

The USM club, formed in 1978, depends heavily on foreign students, with half the roster composed of players from Brazil, Malaysia, Panama, Guatemala, El Salvador, Peru and Colombia. Five players are from the Gulf Coast area.

"Foreign students are excellent players since they grow up with the game," Glamser pointed out. "They have skills Americans don't have."

"Someday, however, when we have a varsity soccer program, perhaps we'll have access to the very talented players here," he added.

The 1984 season marked the first year of collegiate soccer league action in Mississippi, including a regular schedule and the participation of NCAA referees. The USM team had to pay its own way, however, with the university providing only mileage money for travel.

Glamser said a $1,000 contribution from Coca-Cola Bottling Co. went a long way in helping the USM squad pay for uniforms, meals, equipment and lodging. "The players sometimes wrap their ankles with air-conditioning duct tape since it is less expensive," he noted.

In addition to USM and Ole Miss, other teams participating in the soccer competition during the past season included Delta State, Mississippi State, Mississippi College and Hinds Junior College.

Ole Miss posted an upset win over top-seeded Mississippi State to get into the finals of the state playoffs Dec. 1-2. The Eagles and Rebels ended regulation play tied 1-1 in the title game, but USM won it in two 10-minute overtime periods on the strength of a goal by Keri McNab, a 5-foot-8, 145-pounder from Roatan, Honduras.

"They really deserved what they achieved. They've worked hard all season long," Glamser said of his team, which brought home a large trophy to present to USM President Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas.

Other members of the USM soccer team in addition to McNab included Tom Demboski of Bay St. Louis and Jim Lynch of Carriere.

Lady Eagles take holiday break after defeating Nicholls State

Southern Mississippi's Lady Golden Eagles headed into a week-long Christmas break on a positive note after defeating Nicholls State 89-67 Dec. 19 in Green Coliseum—one of only two home games the Lady Eagles have played thus far.

"It sure was nice playing at home for a change," commented head coach Kay James after her Lady Eagles played seven of nine games on the road, posting a 6-3 record.

In the Nicholls State game, James used all 11 of her players and all but two scored. "From the start of our season, we have tried to give playing time to as many people as we could," said James. "I think playing a lot of people will help strengthen our bench."

Through the nine games, James has never played fewer than nine players. "With the type of basketball we play, running the fast break and pressure defense, we will need to depend on nine to ten players each game," said James.

No doubt the star for the Lady Eagles thus far has been Portland "Porky" McCaskill. The 5-9 senior forward from Mendenhall is having an outstanding season. Through nine games, McCaskill is averaging 22.3 points and 11.4 rebounds. She has scored over 20 points in eight of the nine games.

"It's no secret Portland is having a super senior year," stated James. "She has been our team leader this year."

Even though McCaskill has made her mark for the team, other Lady

Eagles have done well also. Wilhelmina "Kat" Smith is averaging 17.2 points and 11.0 rebounds for the Lady Eagles. "Smith has been our silent killer," commented James. "You never know what she has done until you look at a stat sheet."

Along with Smith, Diane Backstrom and Bridget Winston have come on strong for the Lady Eagles. Backstrom, a 5-5 junior guard from Philadelphia, is averaging 9.1 points and handing out 5.6 assists per game. Winston, a 5-7 junior from Columbus, is averaging 11.6 points and dishing out 6.0 assists.

"I think we have two of the better guards in the country working together," stated James. "With their quickness, they can make a lot of things happen on the court."

"I am especially proud of our big people this year," James continued. "Our inside game has improved a great deal and we are looking for better things to come." Much of the credit there goes to Juliette Weaver, a 6-0 senior center, who is averaging 9.6 points and 4.1 rebounds thus far. Her back-up partner, 6-1 freshman Sharon Varnado, is averaging 4.7 points and 4.5 rebounds.

Other Lady Eagles making strong contributions include Faye Hodges, a 5-10 junior forward from Cleveland, averaging 2.5 points and 1.1 rebounds; Amy Heiden, a 5-7 sophomore guard from Jackson, averaging 2.6 points and handing out 1.6 assists; Pam Wilson, a 6-2 junior center from Wiggins, averaging 2.0 points and 2.5 rebounds; Ana Jones, a 6-0 forward from Gulfport, averaging 1.4 points and 0.9 rebounds; and Anita Dudley, a 5-9 senior guard/forward, averaging 1.6 points and 1.3 rebounds.

The Lady Eagles are taking a seven-day break before returning to prepare for their tough Metro schedule. The first game after the break is set for Jan. 3 in Green Coliseum against Texas-Arlington, before hosting the first Metro opponent, Louisville, two days later. Game times are set for 7:30 and 5:30 p.m., respectively.

TESTING SHRIMP—Michael Neeley and Christine Trigg of the physiology section at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs gather test shrimp to be weighed and measured as part of a crustacean nutrition project being conducted simultaneously at 14 laboratories in the United States and eight foreign countries.

Coast lab participates in crustacean project

The physiology section at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory is participating in an International Collaborative Crustacean Nutrition Program being conducted simultaneously at 14 laboratories in the United States and eight foreign countries.

Dr. A. Venkataramiah, physiology section head, is coordinating the GCRL research project which is being funded in part by Mississippi Power Company. Total funding for the one-year project is $63,070.

Other staff members involved in this project are Dr. G.J. Lakshmi, senior physiologist; Christine Trigg, chemist; Diane Hebert, secretary/laboratory assistant and Michael Neeley, laboratory aide.

"The International Collaborative Program was initiated to develop a standard reference diet for worldwide use to raise commercial crustaceans," Dr. Venkataramiah stated. "In the past without the reference diet, there have been frequent difficulties in comparing crustacean nutrition results from different laboratories, from different experiments at the same laboratory, or from different species."

"The importance of standardizing the diet was accentuated in various meetings held between 1978 and 1984 by the World Mariculture Task Force, the International Council for Exploration of the Seas, European Inland Fisheries Advisory Commission and other international nutritional study groups," he noted.

Dr. John D. Castell of Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, coordinator of the International Collaborative Program, originally invited 13 laboratories from the United States and six other countries. Latest information shows that 14 laboratories have joined the program, including four each from the United States and Canada, and one each from Antigua (West Indies), Argentina, Cuba, Japan, Tahiti (French Polynesia) and Venezuela. The individual laboratories are testing crustacean species native to their area.

"In the ongoing experiments which began in September at GCRL, we are testing four different diets using juvenile white shrimp," Dr. Lakshmi explained. "One diet was developed in the GCRL physiology section in the early 1970's and was patented in the U.S. in 1975. Other diets are from the Halifax Nutrition Laboratory in Canada, Bodega Marine Laboratory in California and Texas A&M University."

"These diets differ in protein level and source, consistency, water stability, acceptability by the animals and several other respects," Dr. Lakshmi continued. "The growth promoting factor and the behavior of the diets in water are being considered before making final recommendations to the international coordinator."

The experiments are being carried out in recirculating fiberglass tanks provided with bottom biological filters. The filters were pre-conditioned with other animals prior to introducing the actual test shrimp in order to initiate colonization by aerobic, nitrifying bacteria which oxidize toxic ammonia excreted by the shrimp to less harmful products.

Water quality is being monitored carefully during tests, with the shrimp and will be used as another criterion in determining the suitability of each diet.

In February or March, similar procedures will be followed to test the diets on brown shrimp. Dr. Venkataramiah noted the efficiency of the shrimp food conversion ratio. Under ideal conditions, about two pounds of feed comprised of 35 percent protein will generate one pound of edible shrimp, as compared to 16 pounds of grain required to produce one pound of beef.

Golden Eagle baseball to begin

An 18-game south division Metro Conference schedule, along with games against SEC members Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Alabama and Vanderbilt highlight a 74-game 1985 University of Southern Mississippi baseball schedule.

The largest schedule in the school's history was released recently by USM athletic director Roland Dale and second-year head coach Hill Denson.

The schedule shows 16 doubleheaders, plus an attractive home package that will feature day games at Taylor Park on campus and night games off campus at Harrington Park. The Eagles open the season Feb. 16 with a three-game Metro Conference series at Florida State, and will play at home for the first time Feb. 19, hosting Northeast Louisiana.

USM will compete in the south division of the Metro Conference and those results will be used to seed teams for the May 9-12 Metro Tournament in Tallahassee, Fla. The Eagles will play three games at home and three on the road against the other members of the south division—Florida State, Memphis State and Tulane.

In addition, the Eagles will swap a pair of games with Alabama, host Ole Miss for two and play one in Oxford and host Mississippi State for a pair and Vanderbilt for three. Other perennial powers on the '85 schedule include UNO and South Alabama.

Coming off a disappointing first season, coach Denson is more optimistic this year. He cites three non-pitching returning starters, 10 returning pitchers who saw action a year ago and 16 signees as the major reasons. "We'll have more, better athletes than last year," says Denson, "and more speed, and better pitching arms should allow us to do some of the things we wanted to do last year but weren't able to do."

Denson admits the schedule's a tough one, but says, "These are the kind of teams we have to play in order to recruit the kind of players we want. We've also set a team goal of winning at least 40 games this year. We feel we can get into the playoffs if we can win that many."

Season tickets to the 42 home games go on sale next week. They're priced at $30 for adults, $15 for students high school age and younger. Single game tickets will sell for $3 each, thus the season ticket represents a significant $96 savings for an adult ticket and an even greater savings for students.

The schedule follows:

Oyster harvest improving

Commercial oyster harvests in Mississippi waters have steadily improved since the season opened No. 12.

"Cooler weather has caused the food sources for oysters to flourish, resulting in oyster growth and increased catches," said Bill Demoran, fisheries management section head at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

About 1,000 sacks of oysters are currently being harvested daily in Mississippi, nearly 50 percent above the average daily total at the beginning of the season.

Officials estimate that the 1984-85 harvest will total between 90,000 and 200,000 sacks. It is difficult to pinpoint a more exact figure because the reefs are still recovering from freshwater flooding following the opening of Louisiana's Bonnet Carre spillway in May 1983.

Landings have already surpassed last season's scanty 10,000 sack yield, but should total much less than the 365,000 sacks harvested during the record 1982-83 season directly preceding the spillway opening.

Harvesters are receiving $13 to $16 sack of oysters this season, almost double the whole sale price of two years ago. Seafood processors report that this season's oysters are meatier than usual and are yielding about a gallon meat per sack, twice the normal amount.

On a less favorable note, opening of the large Pass Marianne and Telegraph dredging reefs in the west Mississippi Sound will be delayed or possibly cancelled for the season.

"These reefs were nearly decimated by oyster drills that invaded the reefs during periods of high salinity in the late summer months," Demoran explained. "The situation is a real disappointment, because these reefs were developing so well before the oyster drills moved in."

Boat caroling tour visits Pass Christian Isles

U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 35 provided Christmas spirit to residents of Pass Christian Isles on Friday night, Dec. 21, between 8 and 10 p.m.

Annually, the flotilla sponsors a boat caroling tour of the bayous in Henderson Point and Pass Christian Isles. Residents along the waterways were invited to light up their docks and porches to assure a stopover by the caroling boats led by the 52-ft. "Alligator."

Mayor Gordon Bishop of Pass Christian, special guest of the flotilla, sang along with the group of merry-makers.

Hancock Insurance Agency

(Your Independent Insurance Agency Working for You)

There are two basic steps that you can take to determine if you have adequate insurance on your valuables:

- 1) Get an appraisal and know today's replacement value. For your protection, have valuables professionally appraised.
- 2) Know the limits on theft losses in your homeowner's policy. Your homeowner's policy covers all personal possessions. When there is a loss by theft, however, the amount of reimbursement on certain items is limited.

An inventory is vitally important after a loss. If there is a disaster tomorrow, would you remember each item lost? We have inventory booklets to help make the job easier. Come by our office for your free booklet—no obligation.

JSU sends five to bowls

Five Jackson State University football players have been invited to participate in post season football bowls.

Senior wide receiver Chris Burkett, played in the Blue-Gray Bowl in Montgomery, Ala., on Dec. 25 and has accepted an invitation to play in the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala. on Jan. 12.

Quarterback John McKenzie, running back Carl Blue, offensive guard Frank Sutton and linebacker Ladell Wills have been invited to play in the second annual Freedom Bowl All-Star Classic in Atlanta, Ga., on Jan. 12.

During his career at Jackson State, Burkett caught 94 passes for 1,708 yards and 16 touchdowns. The 6-3, 200-pound Collins is considered to be one of the top ten receivers coming out of college this year.

He is the first J-Stater to participate in the Blue-Gray Bowl since Larry Cowan played in that contest back in 1981. He is also the first Tiger to participate in the Senior Bowl since Walter Payton and Robert Brazile in 1975. Running back Perry Harrington was invited in 1980, but missed the contest because of injuries.

Sutton, 6-3, 250-pound Jackson native, is a three-time All Southwestern Athletic Conference first-team selection. A quick, aggressive, and strong offensive guard, Sutton is considered an excellent professional prospect.

McKenzie, who set four JSU records during his junior year, will likely be the starting quarterback in the Freedom Bowl Classic. During his career at JSU, the 6-1, 170-pound Miami, Fla., native completed 129 passes for 1,667 yards and 14 touchdowns. He holds JSU single season records for passes attempted (284), passes completed (142), passing yards (2,067) and total offense (2,127). During his career at JSU he has completed 368 of 755 passes for 4,914 yards and 38 touchdowns.

Wills, a two-time All-SWAC linebacker, has been the Tigers' leading tackler the last two years. The 6-1, 225-pounder from Flint, Mich., has a career total of 226 tackles, including 24 for losses and 12½ quarterback sacks. Blue (5-9, 200 pounds) from Vicksburg is a runner who gained 1,157 yards during his career at JSU.

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.,
Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION - Drug use and abuse has been recognized as a problem of society since:

- 1900
- 1800
- First Century, A.D.
- 5,000 B.C.

ANSWER - Drug use and abuse predates recorded history. The use of drugs for diversion as well as medical purposes is older than civilization itself.

Opium, marijuana, and cocaine are probably the oldest known drugs next to alcohol, which has been and remains the drug of choice throughout history. The Sumerians of 5,000 B.C. used opium, and Homer's ODYSSEY refers to "a drug potent against pain and quarrels and charged with the forgetfulness of all trouble."

The Greek naturalist Theophrastus also described the use of poppy juice. Marijuana was used in China at least 5,000 years ago, and Herodotus reported that the Scythians used it in the Fifth Century B.C. Peyote and other hallucinogens were part of religious ceremonies among many American Indian tribes.

Correct answer - d.

For further information about alcohol and drug abuse, write: Dr. Paul G. Jones, II, Executive Director, Christian Action Commission, P.O. Box 530, Jackson, MS 39206.

Stability important during holiday time

By Norine Barnes
Child Development

Extension Service

For children holidays can be a joyful time filled with fun and learning experiences. They can also be tension-filled, unhappy times. For children to receive the most enjoyment, the festivities need to be controlled and slightly subdued.

Young children need a stable schedule. Mealtime, naps, and bedtime should change as little as possible. If parents have last minute afternoon and evening shopping, the children need to be left at home with a familiar person so their routine will remain consistent.

The sparkling lights and tree ornaments present a great temptation. Since there is real danger to both the child and the decorations, try this compromise. Declare that the big tree is to be enjoyed with the eyes but not with the hands.

At the same time, provide the child with a small sturdy tree that can be touched at will. Work with the child to make handmade paper ornaments to decorate the children's tree. The pleasure of creating together may well be the highlight of the holiday season. Let the child choose the location and then with great fanfare and laughter celebrate the tree trimming.

Too many gifts confuse the young child. Keep this in mind when making your shopping lists. A few age-appropriate gifts are best.

Children need practice in learning to give. Baking cookies together and then have children deliver them as presents to the neighbors can begin to teach the pleasure of giving.

Very small children have difficulty understanding time concepts. If possible, minimize preparations until a few days before the holiday. Children who have been counting a month day by day will be frantic when the last day finally arrives. Too much build up of expectation can ensure feelings of letdown for adults as well as children. Talk more about the meaning of Christmas and less about the gifts and special parties.

Children sense and adopt the tensions of their parents. Keep your schedule as uncluttered and simple as possible. Think through all the traditional trappings of the holiday season and eliminate the things that are not truly important. Parents who are relaxed, happy and playful, can expect their children to be as well.

ETV Brief

SWAN SONG

Leontyne Price makes her second "Live from the Met" appearance on ETV on Thursday, Jan. 3 in "Aida," beginning at 8 p.m. Ms. Price reports that this appearance will mark the close of her operatic career.

The Metropolitan Opera's current "Aida" combines traditional elements with a contemporary viewpoint.

David Reppa's set designs make free use of ancient Egyptian visual motifs, picked up in turn by the costumes. The King's courtiers are encrusted with gold, bronze and bright enamels, a massive splendor conveying their dominance over the Ethiopians, who are gently and humbly dressed.

Verdi's "Aida" premiered Dec. 24, 1871, at the Cairo Opera House. The opera was not—as is generally supposed—written for the opening of the Suez Canal in November 1869 or for the opening of the Cairo Opera House the same year. (The opera house opened with a production of Verdi's "Rigoletto.")

Actually, Verdi was commissioned by the Khedive, or viceroy, of Egypt to compose an opera for the following season.

At first Verdi refused, but his imagination was spurred reading French Egyptologist Auguste Mariette's synopsis of "Aida," passed on to Verdi by the librettist Camille Du Locle.

Mississippi-born Leontyne Price is a legend at the Metropolitan Opera, as well as at the other major opera houses around the world. She made her "Live from the Met" debut on public television this fall in "La Forza del Destino."

DOCTOR WHO

Tom Baker returns as the Doctor in the "Doctor Who" movies at 5 p.m., Saturdays beginning Jan. 5 on Mississippi ETV.

The "Doctor Who" movies starring Peter Davison came to a conclusion on Dec. 15 and the series once again will be started over with Tom Baker's first story, "Robot."

"Doctor Who" starring Baker also can be seen in its week-daily, episodic, half-hourly format at 10:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

You've heard all the talk about Individual Retirement Accounts. The tax break you get. The retirement income you can count on.

But, you're probably wondering if an IRA is right for you.

"Don't you need $2,000?"

If you work, you can start an IRA at Hancock Bank with as little as $5.00. Then, just put in what you want, when you want.

You don't have to contribute every month, or even every year. But your money keeps on working for you, earning interest.

The money you put in is not taxable until you take it out. Even the interest is sheltered.

"How much can I put away?"

If you're employed, you can put up to $2,000 in your IRA. $2,000 each for working couples. Or, a $2,250 combined total for a couple if only one of you is employed.

If you deposit at least $2,000, you're eligible for your choice of 18-month or 30-month fixed-interest rates. Amounts less than $2,000 earn money-market rates that change monthly. When your IRA builds up to $2,000, we'll be happy to lock in a fixed rate for you. It's usually higher.

"How can I get a tax break? I don't even itemize."

You don't have to itemize to get the tax break. At the bottom of a regular IRS 1040 form, the money you put in your IRA comes right off the top of your taxable income.

You can start your IRA and take the deduction right up until the time you file. But don't wait past April 15th, even if you get a tax extension. That's a firm deadline this year.

"When can I get my money?"

You can start taking money out of your IRA at age 59½. Of course, it's your money, and you can take it out any time you want. But the federal government imposes a 10% penalty for withdrawal before 59½. And if your money is in a fixed-rate time deposit, there may be an additional penalty.

So, think of your IRA as a long-term investment for retirement. Not a temporary tax shelter or savings for emergencies.

When you reach 59½, you can get your IRA in one lump sum, or set up a regular monthly income. Or, if you choose, you can wait until 70½ to start receiving payments.

"I only have a little to put in now. Would I have much by retirement?"

Let's say you're 30 years old, and in the 29% tax bracket. Look at how $50.00 a month would add up:

Estimated value at age 65: (based on 10% interest)
TOTAL DEPOSIT OVER 35 YEARS	$ 21,000.00
TAX SAVINGS	6,090.00
TOTAL INVESTMENT	14,910.00
ESTIMATED IRA VALUE	172,252.00
ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT FOR 15 YEARS	2,027.00
TOTAL RETURN	$364,858.00

Have a question about IRAs? Call Mae Beth Tracy at 868-4406, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. She's here to answer your questions about IRAs. At no obligation to you.

"What's a Self-Directed IRA?"

It's a new service offered by Hancock Bank that lets you make the investment decisions on your IRA.

Suppose you want to buy blue-chip stocks, mutual funds, or the new zero-coupon bonds. You simply call Hancock Bank and tell us where you want to invest. We won't advise you—it's your decision. But we can make the investment for you, usually for less than you'd be charged at a regular brokerage firm.

But remember, there are some important differences between self-directed IRAs and regular IRAs. At Hancock Bank, you don't have to pay fees or commissions on our regular IRAs. However, on self-directed accounts, you do pay fees.

Every regular Hancock Bank IRA is insured up to $100,000 by an agency of the federal government. But investing in the stock market with a self-directed IRA is not insured.

So, if you're depending on your IRA for retirement, you might be better off with our regular IRAs. Or just putting some of your money in a self-directed IRA.

Either way, the decision's up to you.

"I'm interested. Who should I call?"

We've tried to clear up some questions about IRAs. And if you're beginning to think an IRA is the way to go for you, you're on the right track.

So, pick up the phone and call Mae Beth Tracy at 868-4406. She'll answer any other questions you might have. She'll quote you our current rates.

And, if you like, Mae Beth will fill out an application form with you over the phone and mail it to you. So, all you'll have to do is sign it at home, and send it in with your first deposit.

Or come by any of our offices to ask about IRAs. We're always glad to see you.

But, open your IRA now. You'll enjoy the satisfaction of getting a tax break this year. While you build an income for retirement.

Call Hancock Bank for answers.

Your Pet's Health

Certain Steps Necessary In Health Care For Puppy

By Clyde E. Taylor
Veterinary Medicine Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Puppies come into the hands of new owners from many different environments. Some are received in a fat and healthy condition. Others are sick and undernourished from the start.

Most puppies, however, come to new owners in a physical condition somewhere between these two extremes. For this reason an initial health examination is suggested just as soon as the puppy is acquired. Professional recommendations can thus be made based upon the particular background and problems of a puppy.

Periodic Examinations

At the time of the initial examination by a veterinarian, arrangements should also be made for regularly scheduled examinations. These examinations often nip disease and health problems in the bud. They are the most economical way to assure the health of a growing pup. Vaccinations also can be given at the time these periodic examinations are conducted.

Vaccinations

Five of the most common and serious diseases of dogs can, in most instances, be prevented with the use of vaccines. These diseases are canine distemper, canine infectious hepatitis, leptospirosis, parvovirus and rabies.

The proper age for inoculations varies with the individual animal and the type of vaccine used. A vaccination schedule should be arranged at one of the early examinations with a veterinarian. It is important to remember that no person can be sure that a vaccine (whether for animal or human use) will be 100 percent effective; however, vaccines are effective in most cases. Likewise, a vaccine will seldom confer life-long immunity. Therefore, "booster shots" are recommended at prescribed intervals by veterinarians.

Diet

Many different and acceptable methods exist for feeding puppies, and the periodic examinations recommended provide an opportunity to obtain professional help in the proper nourishment of a puppy. The need for special vitamins and minor supplemental suggestions in the feeding program can bring improved appetite, a finer hair coat and a more vigorous animal.

The amount of food given at each meal varies with the breed, age and the individual, but overfeeding is one of the most common causes of digestive troubles in young animals. Specific professional directions can remedy this problem.

Intestinal Parasites

Puppies frequently harbor one or more varieties of worms. Bring a stool specimen at the time of regular health examinations to determine if intestinal parasites are a problem in a puppy. Type of worms, severity and the proper medication can thus be accurately determined. Indiscriminate worming is unnecessary and even dangerous.

Emotional Health

Very young puppies or new dogs should not be overhanded, roughly handled or given too much attention. A puppy needs plenty of sleep. A fixed routine is very good. In fact, dogs thrive on routine.

Signs of Sickness

First signs of sickness are usually listlessness and unexplained loss of appetite. More pronounced symptoms then follow. Early attention means faster response. If listlessness, loss of appetite or other unusual symptoms should occur, call promptly for an appointment with a veterinarian.

over which they will receive payments.

Q. I understand that Medicare has two parts. What does this mean?

A. Medicare does have two parts—hospital insurance and medical insurance. Hospital insurance can help pay for inpatient hospital care, inpatient care in a skilled nursing facility, home health care, and hospice care. Medical insurance can help pay for medically-necessary doctor's services, outpatient hospital services, and a number of other medical services and supplies that are not covered by the hospital insurance part of Medicare. Medical insurance can also pay for home health services.

Q. The checks you receive based on your husband's work usually stop the month the divorce decree becomes final. However, if you're 62 or older and you were married for at least 10 years, your checks will continue. You should contact your Social Security office to notify the people there of your change in marital status.

Q. Is it possible to get Social Security retirement benefits before age 65?

A. Yes. You can start getting retirement benefits as early as age 62. But if you do, your retirement benefits will be reduced. Benefits to people who retire early are reduced to take account of the longer period of time

Supplemental security income payments can be made to disabled children, no matter how young they are.

Call your local Social Security office at least 3 months before you plan to retire.

DECEMBER TERM, 1984

DECLARE INTENT TO ISSUE

$2,500,000 JAIL BONDS

The Board of Supervisors, Hancock County, Mississippi, took up for consideration the matter of issuing general obligation bonds of said County for the purpose of financing the subject, Supervisor Lader offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO ISSUE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS OF THE COUNTY IN THE MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF TWO MILLION FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($2,500,000) TO RAISE MONEY FOR THE PURPOSE OF ERECTING AND EQUIPPING COUNTY BUILDINGS FOR USE AS A COUNTY JAIL AND FOR SHERIFF'S OFFICE, AND RELATED FACILITIES, WITHIN AND FOR THE COUNTY, AND DIRECTING THE CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUCH INTENTION.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Board"), acting for and on behalf of the County of Hancock, Mississippi (the "County"), hereby finds, determines, adjudicates and declares as follows:

1. It is necessary and in the public interest to issue general obligation bonds of the County in the maximum principal amount of Two Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($2,500,000) to raise money for the purpose of erecting and equipping county buildings for use as a county jail and for sheriff's office, and related facilities, within and for the County.

2. The assessed value of all taxable property within the County, according to the last completed assessment for taxation, is One Hundred Twenty-four Million Two Hundred Eighty-four Thousand Three Hundred Eighty-three Dollars ($124,284,383); the County has outstanding bonded indebtedness subject to the present (106%) debt limit prescribed by Section 19-35, Mississippi Code of 1972, in the amount of Two Million Six Hundred Twenty-four Thousand Dollars ($2,624,000); and the County is authorized by Section 19-35, Mississippi Code of 1972, to issue bonds hereinafter proposed to be issued, when added to the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the County, will not result in bonded indebtedness, exclusive of indebtedness not subject to the debt limit, of more than ten percent (10%) of the assessed value of taxable property within the County, and will not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation upon bonded indebtedness which may be incurred by the County.

3. The County is authorized by Section 19-35, Mississippi Code of 1972, to issue the bonds hereinafter proposed to be issued for the purpose hereinafter set forth, for which purpose there are no other available funds on hand.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The Board hereby declares its intention to issue general obligation bonds of the County in the maximum principal amount of Two Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($2,500,000) (the "Bonds") to raise money for the purpose of erecting and equipping county buildings for use as a county jail and for sheriff's office, and related facilities, within and for the County. The Bonds shall be general obligations of the County payable as to principal and interest out of and secured by an irrevocable lien in favor of the County on the continuing tax to be levied annually without limitation as to time, rate or amount upon all the taxable property within the geographical limits of the County.

SECTION 2. The Board proposes to direct the issuance of the Bonds in the amount of $2,500,000, to be secured as aforesaid at a meeting of the Board to be held at its regular meeting place in the County Courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, at 9:00 o'clock A.M. on January 10, 1985, or at some meeting held subsequent thereto. If twenty percent (20%) or fifteen hundred (1,500) qualified electors of the County shall file a written protest with the Clerk of the Board against the issuance of the Bonds or before the aforesaid date and hour, then the Bonds shall not be issued unless authorized at an election on the question of the issuance of the Bonds as provided by law. If no protest be filed, then the Bonds may be issued without an election on the question of the issuance of the Bonds at any time within a period of two (2) years after the date above specified.

SECTION 3. This resolution shall be published once a week for at least three (3) consecutive weeks in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in the County, and shall be qualified under the provisions of Section 19-33, Mississippi Code of 1972. The first publication of this resolution shall be published on or before the date fixed herein for the issuance of the Bonds, and the last publication shall be published not more than seven (7) days prior to such date.

SECTION 4. The Clerk of the Board shall be and is hereby directed to procure from the publisher of the aforesaid newspaper the customary proof of the publication of this resolution and have the same before the Board on the date and hour specified in Section 2 hereof.

Supervisor Travica seconded the motion to adopt the foregoing resolution, and the question being put to a roll call vote, the result was as follows:

Supervisor Courtege voted: Yes
Supervisor Lader voted: Yes
Supervisor Pernicelli voted: Yes

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) Your basic niceness sometimes backfires. Don't be afraid to reject others' opinions for fear of hurting their feelings. Lead your life according to your own preferences.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Think twice before agreeing to accompany an older relative on a long trip. The demands made upon you may be more than the trip is worth. Nothing in life is free.

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) Be patient with a family member whom you feel is ignoring you. That person's problems require his full attention for the next few months. Don't add to them by sulking.

CANCER (6-21/7-22) Refrain from gossiping about an old friend who has slipped from the path of respectability. Offer your friendship without moralizing, and suggest others do the same.

LEO (7-23/8-22) Don't let a dead-end job sour your usually sunny nature and stifle your creativity. If changing jobs is not possible right now, seek other outlets until you find something to your taste.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) It's been a long, hard year full of heart-ache and disappointment, but something wonderful looms just over the horizon. The good things you deserve are finally coming to you.

LIBRA (9-23/10-22) Tell that favorite teenager how nice she is, that she is going to be beautiful and successful. Adolescence is a time of profound self-doubt for many. Ease it a little.

SCORPIO (10-23/11-21) "No" is the simplest word in the English language and it's time you learned how to say it. Being a good neighbor is one thing, letting the neighbor abuse you is another.

SAGITTARIUS (11-22/12-21) Why do you bother going to the doctor if you ignore his advice? When he tells you to slow down, he usually has good reason for it. Listen to him before things get out of hand.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) Some long term investments are about to pay off. Use the proceeds to make life a little easier for you and your mate. You have both earned your leisure.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-18) It's always wise to seek expert advice before embarking on a new business venture. Balance your instincts with more sober soundings and choose the middle path for best results.

PISCES (2-19/3-20) Don't put off that visit to a family member who lives far away. Time has a way of slipping from us, and things undone can never be recalled. You won't be sorry and might benefit.

USM grant for study

The University of Southern Mississippi Department of Chemistry has received a grant of nearly $10,000 to study the use of semiconducting polymers as coatings on solar collectors.

According to Dr. J. Emory Howell, professor of chemistry at USM, the $9,990 grant is funded by the Lewis Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Their interest, he said, concerns converting solar energy to electricity, as well as using semiconducting polymer materials as electronic devices.

The study by Howell and graduate chemistry student Terry Liles of Alabama concerns the chemical arrangement of a low-cost, thin film of polymer material.

Howell said the study will be combined with a companion study being made at the University of Central Florida, where Dr. Jeffrey Meyers, a professor of physics, is studying the electronic properties of semiconducting polymers. He is measuring their resistance and conductivity over a wide range of temperatures.

The semiconducting polymers being studied were developed by NASA, Howell explained. The long-range thrust of the project hopefully will promote understanding of the polymers already in use in order that they may be combined with inorganic polymers for use as coatings in solar collectors.
